

Legion in Its Final Session

Stormy Sessions
Over Training Issue
Delayed Closing

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 4.—(P)—A bitter fight over unification of the nation's armed forces was expected to break out on the floor of the 28th annual American Legion national convention today.

The reports of the committee on national defense, headed by S. Perry Brown, of Texas, was to be submitted to the delegates for action. Heavy opposition to the Legion's stand on unification was anticipated from navy adherents within the organization.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 4.—(P)—American Legion dissatisfaction with government handling of veterans' affairs, aggravated by personal exchanges between Veterans' Administrator Omar N. Bradley and Legion Commander John Stelle, was still a bitter issue today as the organization came to the final sessions of its annual convention.

Stelle yesterday repeated his charge that Bradley had "broken faith" with the veterans and demanded congress be convened immediately to amend the veterans' training bill.

"The trouble has always been over the same thing," a Legion official, who declined use of his name said. "Congress passes laws for the benefit of the veterans and the Veterans' Administration, in its interpretations of the law, distorts or cancels out the intended benefits."

Ceiling Too Low

In Palo Alto, Bradley said only that if the $200 a month ceiling set by the Veterans' Administration for veterans' "on-the-job training" (crux of the immediate dispute between Stelle and Stelle) is found to be too low, "we will recommend that it be raised."

The stormy session yesterday over the training issue set back the convention so far that several scheduled speeches and committee reports were carried over to today's final session. Among them were reports on national defense, internal organization and resolutions and important addresses, including one by Franklin D. Olier, chairman of the United States strategic bombing survey.

Besides these, the most important item on today's schedule was election of new legion officers, with Paul H. Griffith of Pennsylvania apparently slated to take over as national commander.

Firm On Foreign Affairs

As had been expected, the legion came out with a firm stand on foreign affairs, supporting the foreign policy of Secretary of State Byrnes and, in the committee report adopted on the convention floor, asserted:

"There now is in progress an obvious totalitarian attempt to seize territory, to establish empire and to achieve world conquest under an ideological cloak and this attempt gravely endangers the attainment of peace, and the objectives for which America fought."

The resolution said that "this nation has a specific responsibility and duty to itself and to all mankind to contribute as effectively to the achievement and maintenance of peace as it did to the prosecution and successful conclusion of the war."

It urged continuance of a foreign policy which is neither hostile nor subservient to any power on earth, and which scorns appeasement.

Mean What They Say

"We are determined to convince the rest of the world that we say what we mean and mean what we say," the resolution added.

The convention approved an Americanism committee report asking the president to restrict all quota immigration to the basis of the National Origins Act, as well as displaced refugee immigration, until January 1, 1948.

Attempts of "subversive or racket groups" to enroll World War II veterans were condemned, work of the house committee on un-American affairs was lauded and it was recommended that the Ku Klux Klan be outlawed.

A proposal to revitalize the Legion $20,000,000 fund for Americanization activities was adopted. The legion rejected three proposals for a World War II bonus, veterans feeling that this is not the time for demanding any bonus. The convention favored immediate redemption in cash of the enlisted men's terminal leave bonds.

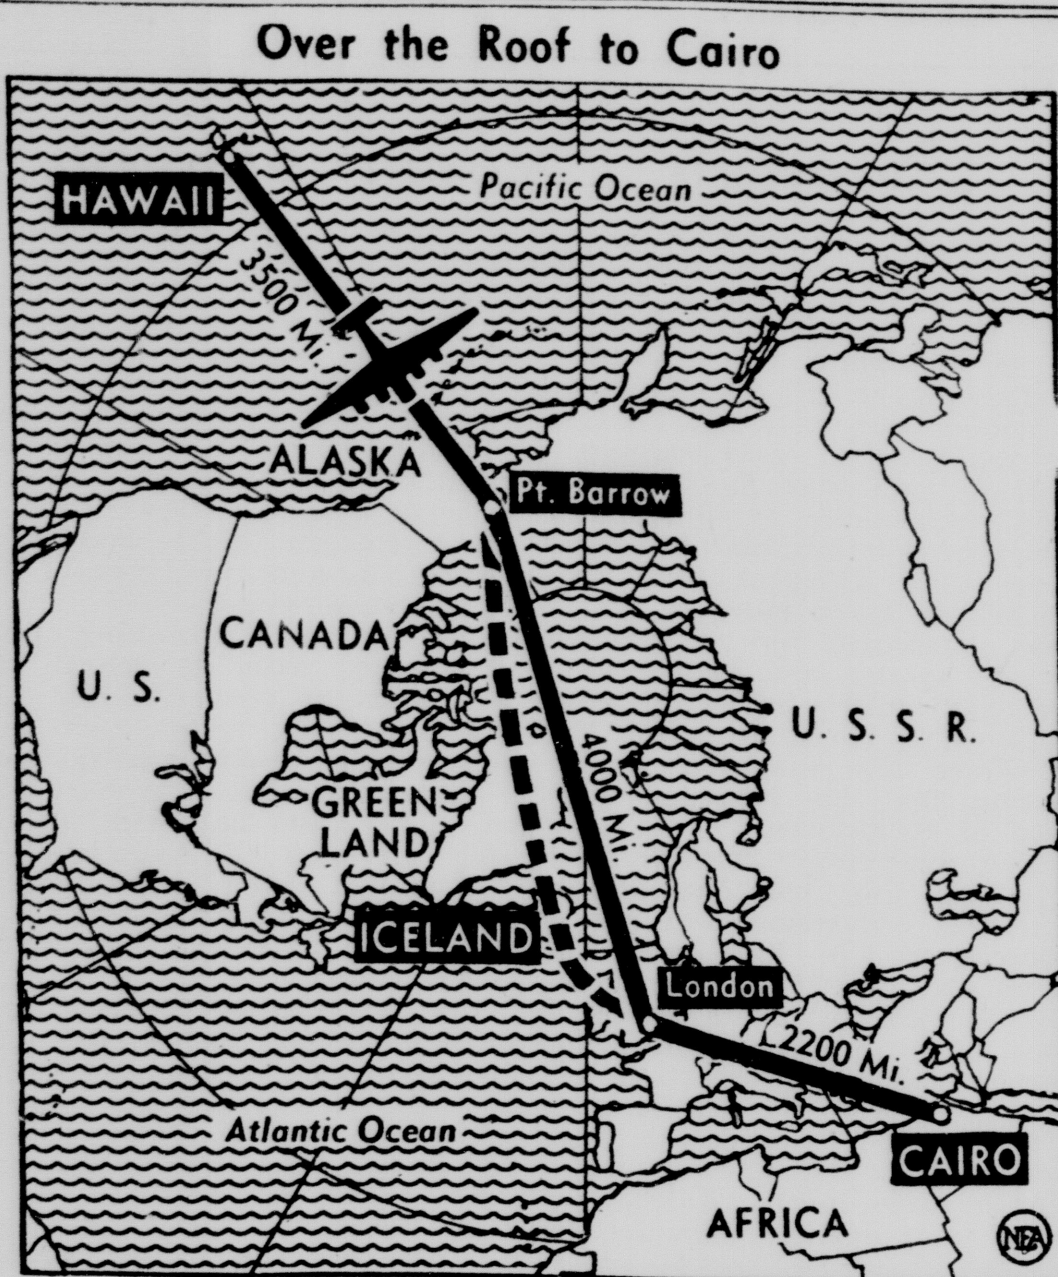

Exemptions for income taxes for veterans who served 90 days in World War II were favored.

Hull's Condition Grave

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—(P)—Former Secretary of State Cordell Hull, ill at Bethesda naval hospital, spent a more restful night last night, but his condition continues grave.

At 9 a. m. report from the hospital today said:

"Mr. Hull spent a more restful night than usual. His condition is still grave."

Dreamboat on Its Way Over Arctic Regions

Carrying Heaviest Load Ever
Lifted by Plane

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 4.—(P)—The AP listening post here heard the Pacusan dreamboat report at about 10:05 a. m. today (12:05 p. m. CST) that everything was "Okay so far" on its flight from Hawaii to Cairo.

By Don Whitehead

HONOLULU, Oct. 4.—(P)—The Pacusan Dreamboat thundered down the runway today and took off at 5:51 a. m. (10:21 a. m. CST) on its 10,300-mile flight over the Arctic regions to Cairo.

Carrying the heaviest load ever lifted by a plane, the B-29 rose slowly into the sky after about a 7,800-foot run and headed out across the Pacific.

The great ship's load totaled 148,140 pounds.

Col. C. S. Irvine, commanding the flight, and his crew relaxed then, confident of success as their plane climbed higher.

Colorful Hawaiian leis were draped about the necks of Irvine and his crew as they bade farewell to Hawaii.

(The Associated Press listening post in San Francisco heard the dreamboat report by radio at 8:33 a. m. (10:33 a. m. CST) that it was proceeding normally at 14,000 feet elevation.)

Combat Missions Worse

"I've sweated out combat missions which were lots worse than this," Irvine said with a grin just before the take off. He tucked a box of cigars under his arm as he spoke.

"All the boys are feeling fine about the trip," Irvine continued. "We are confident we can make it in about 41 hours."

Lt. Col. Beverly Warren of Omaha, Neb., was at the controls as the ship rushed down the runway and was airborne. He is an expert at taking off heavily loaded B-29s and he needed only half the available runway to get the wheels off the navy's John Rogers airfield.

The runway of the army's adjoining field also was available but he did not need the extra distance.

Master Sgt. Gordon S. Fish of Appleton, Wis., crew chief, said: "We will never beat the record set by the navy's Truculent Turtle but a ship was never in better condition than this one."

Anticipate Danger Spots

The Dreamboat was expected to make landfall at Sitka, Alaska, about 11 hours after the takeoff and then head for Juneau. There the communications officer expected to encounter difficulty contacting radio stations which had been alerted to watch the planes progress.

Irvine said he expected the first danger near the Alaskan coast, where a warm air front may bring trouble with icing conditions.

The next danger spot was anticipated over Greenland.

From Juneau the plane will fly south of Whitehorse, B. C., and then directly across the north magnetic pole across Greenland to London.

Textbook is Withdrawn

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—(P)—The war department announced today the withdrawal of a college textbook on economics from courses given army and navy personnel because of "published charges that the army is teaching 'soak the rich ideas'."

A department statement identified the book as "Economics: Principles and Problems" and described it as a standard college text published by Harper and Brothers. Its authors are Paul E. Gemmill, University of Penn-

Statistics on Dreamboat's Cairo Flight

HONOLULU, Oct. 4.—(P)—Statistics of the Pacusan dreamboat's projected Honolulu-Cairo flight:

Pilots—Col. C. S. (Bill) Irvine, St. Paul, Neb., and Maj. M. P. Hayes, Seneca, Mo.

Navigators—Maj. J. T. Brothers, Knoxville, Tenn., and Maj. M. P. Hayes, Seneca, Mo.

Route—From Honolulu across Polar regions to Cairo, via Greenland, London and Bern, Switzerland—and avoiding Russian and Yugoslavian territory.

Distance—10,300 miles.

Expected average speed—235 miles an hour.

Expected time of flight—about 41 hours.

Gasoline load—12,892 gallons, or 77,351 pounds, equivalent to 1½ tank cars.

Gross weight—148,400 pounds at takeoff, which is 27,000 pounds overweight.

World nonstop flight record—Estimated 11,250 miles from Perth, Australia, to Columbus, Ohio, established October 1 by two-engine patrol plane, Truculent Turtle, commanded by Cmdr. Thomas D. Davis, Cleveland.

Report commented that recently established ceilings will permit prices of cattle and hogs to be around 10 per cent higher, and lambs over 15 per cent higher, than in the first half of 1946.

However, a drop in national income in the second half of 1947 would be accompanied, it said, by declining prices of meat animals, particularly in the fourth quarter when production will be increasing seasonally. The bureau did not amplify its prediction of a lower national income.

The dairy price issue remained open after the decontrol board announced through its information director, Delmar Beman, that the three members were adjourning without action because the panel had not received requested data from OPA, the agriculture department and segments of the dairy industry.

At OPA, where price chief Paul Porter has been demanding reports, turn of price controls on milk and other dairy products, aides said the board had asked for so much data it was impossible to have it ready before the middle of next week.

Gas Stations 'Sitting Tight'

HIGGINSVILLE, Mo., Oct. 4.—(P)—The city's 17 filling station operators still were sitting tight today in their stance to sell no gasoline or oil or give tire service until the city council rescinds its ordinance imposing a one-cent a gallon tax on gas.

The operators, who closed their stations last Wednesday, said they expected no change in the situation until Monday, when they will meet with the city council.

In the meantime, Higginsville motorists are driving six miles to a country filling station to replenish their gas and oil supplies.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 4.—(P)—Perfect weather for the first two games of the world series here Sunday and Monday was forecast today by Harry F. Wahlgren, St. Louis weather observer.

Typical Indian summer weather, with clear skies and the temperatures in the seventies or low eighties is in prospect for the weekend, Wahlgren said.

Discouraging Forecast for Meat Hungry

Output During Remainder of Year May be Very Low

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—(P)—Agriculture department economists said today meat supplies are unlikely to catch up with demand before 1948—and by then people may not be able to afford as many steaks and roasts as they would like.

That doubly discouraging forecast for meat-hungry Americans came as the price decontrol board suspended at least until next week a third decision on the future of ceiling prices for milk and other dairy products, now free of OPA jurisdiction.

The agriculture department's bureau of economics explained its prediction of a slackening meat demand some 12 or 15 months hence by saying that consumer incomes are expected to turn downward in late 1947 or early 1948.

Furthermore, the agency said the demand for meat and other foods—now at a record peak—may decline as consumer spending shifts to non-food items, such as automobiles, washing machines, refrigerators, and clothing, as supplies of those goods become more abundant.

Output Low

The bureau said meat output during the remainder of 1946 may be "relatively low," reflecting heavy marketings of hogs and cattle in July and August, when there were no price controls and delayed fall marketings of livestock.

As for 1947, the report said per capita civilian supplies may be only as large as this year—or 145 pounds a year.

It added that the supply of pork is expected to be smaller than this year but that production of beef is expected to be large, reflecting in turn a tendency among producers to delay marketings of cattle this fall in expectation of possible higher prices.

Sheep and lamb slaughter next year probably will be less than this year, with prospects of a smaller 1947 lamb chop and fewer lambs to be fed this fall, the bureau said.

Incomes May Drop

On the subject of prices, the report commented that recently established ceilings will permit prices of cattle and hogs to be around 10 per cent higher, and lambs over 15 per cent higher, than in the first half of 1946.

However, a drop in national income in the second half of 1947 would be accompanied, it said, by declining prices of meat animals, particularly in the fourth quarter when production will be increasing seasonally. The bureau did not amplify its prediction of a lower national income.

Brooms off Control List

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—(P)—OPA swept its price tags from all household brooms today.

The agency announced that ceiling prices will rise on bedsprings and metal beds, fabricated concrete reinforcing bars, and certain iron and steel products delivered at middle-western, gulf and Pacific and basing, points.

Brooms went on the free list along with such varied products as sulphur, heavy used trucks, most fence posts, most military vehicles, elastic webbing, cord and braid and a few automobile parts and accessories.

Brooms were decontrolled, OPA said, because the agriculture department failed to list broom corn as in short supply. Broom corn is the largest cost item in brooms and OPA decided it would be simpler to decontrol the whole product than try to compute ceilings.

Most of the other items were freed from ceilings because OPA ruled they are in ample supply. A few were found unimportant to living or business costs. Among these were the rubber balloons used for weather and radio observations.

Anxious to Get Rid of His Star Boarders

But Three Not Guilty of War Crimes Have no Place to go

NUERNBERG, Oct. 4.—(P)—U. S. Army authorities said today the British had declined to permit Jhalmar Schacht and Hans Fritzsche, acquitted of war crimes by the international military tribunal to enter the British occupation zone of Germany.

Lt. Gen. Lucius Clay, deputy American military governor, announced that the French had rejected the plea of Nazi diplomat Franz von Papen, the third of the acquitted German war leaders, to settle in the French zone.

The three acquitted men still were in the Nuremberg palace of justice, still, hopefully awaiting safe conduct out of the American zone. They told attorneys and army officers they feared the treatment they might receive at the hands of the Bavarians around Nuremberg, who want to try them under de-Nazification laws.

Col. B. C. Andrus, security officer, said he was anxious to get rid of his "star boarders," but would keep them in his custody pending a decision at a higher level.

Appeals Filed

Meanwhile, attorneys for three additional Nazi war leaders and for the SS (Elite) Guard filed appeals from their convictions with the Allied control council. Appeals on behalf of six of the 19 men convicted Tuesday now were before the council.

Appeals were filed for Hitler's erratic deputy, Rudolf Hess, who was sentenced to life imprisonment; for Hans Frank, Hitler's gauleiter in Poland, and Jew baiter Julius Streicher, both condemned to hang.

Already on file were appeals for William Frick, "protector" of Bohemia and Moravia; Nazi philosopher Alfred Rosenberg and Deputy Fuehrer Martin Bormann, all sentenced to hang. Bormann was tried in absentia. All appeals must be before the council by 3:45 p. m. tomorrow.

Tells U.S. to Keep Out Of British Affairs

BLACKPOOL, England, Oct. 4.—(P)—Demands that the United States keep out of British imperial affairs were voiced today as the conservative party conference voted unanimously and with cheers that "the principle of imperial preference must be maintained."

Prominent speakers voiced fears that the labor government would abandon imperial preference—tariff production of empire products against competition from outside the empire—in return for the American loan.

Seven Drifting Helplessly Saved

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—(P)—Seven men, drifting helplessly in the Atlantic ocean, after their 25-foot yawl lost its rudder, were rescued last night by the merchant vessel, S. S. Francis C. Harrington and a coast guard cutter.

The coast guard announced the rescue today, after it had said earlier that a lone man, Frederick L. Wright, of Springfield, Mass., owner of the yawl, had been found by the Harrington.

Victory Does Not End all Oppression

Justice Jackson States in Speech At U. of Buffalo

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 4.—(P)—Associate Supreme Court Justice Robt. H. Jackson, declaring that the rules of law governing the Nuernberg war crimes trial should apply to victor as well as vanquished, asserting today that "the victory has not ended or given promise of ending the oppression and injustice which breed international discords."

America's chief prosecutor, in his first public address since the conviction of the Nazi war leaders, said that "war and dictatorship are so interrelated that I am convinced little progress can be made towards permanent peace without solving the problem of protecting the elementary rights of minorities."

In a speech prepared for the centennial convocation of the University of Buffalo, at which he was to receive an honorary degree of Doctor of Laws, Jackson said: "The victory has not ended or given promise of ending the oppression and injustice which breed international discords. We conquered a country whose predominant faction was practicing terrorism in most barbaric forms and on a vast scale."

One Group Not Enough

"But the defeat of one group of oppressors does not end oppression. In many of its aspects persecution of minorities is an internal matter between the government and its citizens. But its disruptive effect on the international order is so direct that tyranny on a sizeable scale anywhere is a matter of international concern."

Jackson said the significant features of the Nuernberg trial were embodied in the international agreement signed in London on August 3, 1945.

"This agreement," he said, "departs from the old theory that international law bears only on states and not on statesmen, and that 'sovereignty' is a shield against all the world for any action done under the laws of a state or under its orders. . . ."

Time Will Tell

"It will take time—more time than any of us will ever see—to learn the ultimate effect of the Nuernberg trial on international law, and to what extent it may deter attacks on the peace of the world and persecutions of minorities. . . ."

And what we may some day hope for is some permanent forum where the victims of persecution may invoke protection of the law before instead of after it culminates in war. . . ."

Former Famous Racer Dies

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., Oct. 4.—(P)—Barney Oldfield, former famous automobile racing driver, died of a heart attack at his home here today. He was 68 last January.

His wife, Mrs. Bessie Oldfield, found him dead in bed this morning. She reported he was alive and apparently well when she arose and left the room to get the morning paper. When she returned a few minutes later, she was unable to arouse him.

The former speed driver complained yesterday, friends said, of a pain in the back of his neck but refused to have a doctor called, saying he would visit his physician today.

His widow and their adopted daughter, Mrs. Betty Kelly of Beverly Hills, survive him.

Two Major Dairies Raise Milk Prices

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 4.—(P)—The two major dairies here today raised milk prices two cents a quart for their third price increase since dairy products were freed from price control on July 1. Grade A milk now costs 20½ cents a quart while homogenized milk sells for 22½ cents.

Dairy officials said the increase was made in anticipation of higher prices to producers for milk.

Army headquarters announced today that between 38 and 50 Korean police and an undetermined number of civilians were killed at Taegu yesterday in fighting during what Korean sources called a Korean communist demonstration against the police as representatives of the American military government.

The army said there was no count of casualties among the demonstrators because they were hiding their dead and wounded.

Counterfeit Coin Charge

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Oct. 4.—(P)—Four residents of St. Louis, now under arrest here on charges of passing counterfeit coins, were accused of a counterfeiting conspiracy in a secret service complaint filed in federal court here today.

The four are Floyd C. Collier, 21, his wife, Barbara Jane, 16, Frank Mitchell Money, 26, and Helene Evelyn Thompson, 20. The complaint charged they made fake 10 cent, 25 and 50 cent coins in a Little Rock tourist cabin during a ten day stay here last month.

Secret service agent George Bausewein said counterfeit dimes and coin molds were found in the cabin they occupied.

Accuse U. S. And Britain Of Violations

By Voting for An Australian Amendment

PARIS, Oct. 4.—(P)—Russia in angry words today accused the United States and Britain of violating their Big Four agreements by voting for an Australian amendment to set up an international commission for supervision of Italian reparations payments.

The Italian economic commission of the peace conference, which still must fix the amount Italy is to pay neighboring Allied states, passed the amendment, 12 to 8, with France, China and the Slavic states opposed.

Under the amendment, an international body consisting of the Big Four and countries receiving reparations would supervise payments other than those to Russia. These would go to Yugoslavia, Albania, Greece, Ethiopia and Poland.

A. A. Arutiunian of the Soviet Union, visibly angered, declared that the United States and Britain had violated an agreement to a section of the Big Four foreign ministers' treaty draft.

A New Article

American delegate Willard Thorp and British spokesman Glenvil Hall both protested that the amendment was a new article and not a change in an agreed upon portion of the draft.

At one point Australia removed the name of the Soviet Union from the list of members of the proposed body after Russia protested that she was not concerned with non-Russian reparations. When this led to further protests, Australia re-inserted Russia's name, whereupon Arutiunian branded this an "electoral maneuver."

The Australian amendment, as originally worded, would have given the chairmanship of the commission to the United States on the ground that the United States as a non-claimant of reparations and a non-European power had a better "perspective."

Accuse Australia

Arutiunian, terming this contrary to the interests of the Soviet Union and other countries concerned, accused Australia of acting by prearrangement with other powers.

"The Australian delegation," he said, "is undoubtedly counting on the voting machinery to pass its proposal, especially since other delegations do not hesitate about violating the foreign ministers' agreement."

Manila doctors said symptoms of the deadly disease—violent headaches, raging fever, rigidity of stomach and abdominal muscles and eyes turning a milky white—were similar to those of Japanese encephalitis and some tropical ailments, but they were puzzled by the eye symptoms.

Religion and Peace

One of the basic beliefs of religious leaders is that all efforts toward a permanent peace must be buttressed by an absolute confidence in and reliance upon God.

What this trust implies is a spirit of rugged perseverance and unflinching determination in the face of obstacles; and of humility rooted in the realization of man's inability to triumph alone over the enemies of peace.

Humility can be of two kinds. It can be defeatist, saying, "Man is too lowly a creature to do great things," or it can be courageous, declaring, "If man chooses to be an instrument of God, there need be no limit to his accomplishments."

It is only through this fighting humility that man may hope to conquer the world in the name of Christianity and peace. That there must be a union everywhere of men who share this humility is obvious, of course—for without unity there can be no victory—but what must also be recognized is that only through religion can this unity be secured.

Religion's role in the making of peace is not merely to blueprint the moral structure of peace. Religion must also bring to men and women of all races, creeds and backgrounds a personal message. It must promote a lively awareness in each individual of his own separate and distinct responsibility in building the good society of tomorrow.

Religion must teach men to pray; to have a constant belief in God's presence in the world; to love and appreciate one another more; to sacrifice and work together. Above all, it must impress upon them that no matter what setbacks appear, no matter how dark the prospect of peace may seem at times, there is always the comforting reassurance that to fight on the side of God is to fight a winning battle.

Paul's Background and Early Life. Scripture: Acts 21:39; 22:3; 27-28; 26:4-5; Philippians 3:5-6.

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.
The life of the apostle Paul is a notable case history of the power and effect of early training.

It is true that Paul's outlook and convictions in the mature years following his conversion were very different from those of his youth—so much so that he was persecuted for his supposed heresy by the same people whom he had formerly joined in persecuting the Christians. But Paul answered his persecutors by insisting that he worshipped the God of his fathers.

The one thing that characterized his life, both before and after his conversion, was a good conscience. In his persecuting days he thought he was doing God service, just as he did in the days of his enlightenment, when service had become inspired with love and devotion to Christ.

Paul evidently owed a great heritage to the parents whose God he worshipped. And he owed a great deal to Gamaliel, the teacher at whose feet he sat in Jerusalem for Gamaliel appears in Scripture as a tolerant and justice-loving Jewish leader.

How much Paul owed to his boyhood life in Tarsus we can only surmise. It was also a seaport town through which much trade and commerce passed, with a mixed population and the heterogeneous visitors that trade and commerce bring to a seaport.

Paul's daily contacts probably did much to prepare him for that cosmopolitan character he was to assume as a Christian citizen of the world, aspiring to preach the Gospel in every quarter of the then-known world.

He had, too, the training of the synagogue, with its school and its Sabbath service. He, like the boy Jesus, heard each Sabbath the impressive words: "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thine heart and with all thy soul and with all thy might."

Paul was a Jew, and he was a Jew to the end. The foundation of what he was laid in his early youth.

Coming to know Christ enlarged his outlook. It brought into life and vigor every noble teaching of the Scriptures, and it saved him from the folly of putting his faith in the things that had made him a persecutor.

He found in Christ the great Fulfiler, the Messiah and Savior, whom the prophets had foretold. And, finding that Christ, crucified and risen, he became imbued with the Christ-like spirit of love and sacrifice and with the courage of a great mission.

Ark. Rev. Ragsdale is a radio singer and preacher, also has had experience in the evangelistic field. He plays several musical instruments and will be playing and singing each evening before the sermon.

Services each evening at 7:45.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"UNREALITY" is the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 6, 1946.

Golden Text: I John 2:16. Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength: this is the first commandment" (Mark 12:30). The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "There is but one primal cause. Therefore there can be no effect from any other cause, and there can be no reality in aught which does not proceed from this great and only cause." (p. 207).

Red Sox Roll Into St. Louis

EN ROUTE TO ST. LOUIS ON RED SOX SPECIAL, Oct. 4—(AP)—The quietly confident Boston Red Sox rolled toward St. Louis today for their delayed world series opener with the Cardinals with only the doubtful condition of Ted Williams right arm marring a serene outlook.
Williams said flatly he would play in Sunday's game although his elbow still is swollen and very sore as a result of being hit by one of Mickey Haefner's pitches in an exhibition game Tuesday. Dr. Ralph McCarthy, team physician, also indicated the slugging outfielder would play, but there is a question of his effectiveness.
Manager Joe Cronin was not aboard the special, having headed directly to St. Louis from New York after watching the final of the Cardinal-Brooklyn Dodger playoffs. There was a manager on board, however, Steve O'Neill, pilot of the Detroit Tigers who a year ago was the man of the hour with his champions, is making the trip.

Cards Prove They Can Play Like Experts Expected

By Jack Hand

ENROUTE TO ST. LOUIS, Oct. 4—(AP)—Eddie Dyer's St. Louis Cardinals are counting on the momentum of two playoff victories over the Brooklyn Dodgers to send them winging into the World Series with the Boston Red Sox Sunday as very healthy 7 to 29 underdogs.

Instead of a bedraggled flock of Redbirds, drooping after a 156-game schedule that included the first tie in major league history, the revived National League champs remain unshaken by the gentlemen from Boston.

With the chips down in a short series, the Cardinals proved against Brooklyn they can play like the team most of the experts picked last spring to breeze to the pennant.
After Howie Pollet won the playoff opener in St. Louis Tuesday, Murry Dickson, a converted reliever, showed the Brooks something yesterday in the final 8-4 victory at Ebbets field.

Three Run Uprising
From the first inning when Brooklyn made two hits, count for an early run, until the ninth when they drove him to cover in a rousing three-run uprising, Dickson held the home club without a smell of a hit, allowing only one ball to be hit to the outfield.

The ever-faithful Dodger crowd of 31,437 strong was walking out on the "Bums" when they crashed through with their desperate closing surge. Augie Galan's double, Ed Stevens' triple, Carl Furillo's single, a wild pitch and a walk to Peeewe Reese forced Dyer to derrick "Dix" and wave on Harry (The Cat) Brecheen.

Brecheen yielded a hit to Bruce Edwards that made the score 8-4 and then walked pinch hitter Cookie Lavagetto to load the bases and bring the tying run to the plate in the person of dangerous Ed Stanky.

Stole Durocher's Strategy
"The Cat" left Stanky looking at a third called strike and whiffed pinch hitter Howie Schultz with a screw ball on a 3-2 pitch to nail down the pennant.
Dyer, who eased himself out of the "freshman manager" class by winning a pennant in his first year in the big leagues, stole some of Leo Durocher's strategy, squeezing home a run in the seventh on two walks and two sacrifice bunts.

If Pollet feels that his strained side won't bother his control, he will be the opening game pitcher. If there is any doubt about the matter, Dyer will go with Brecheen, one of the best "money" pitchers in the game.

The Cards figure they probably will face Tex Hugen in the first game.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.
BROOKLYN, Oct. 4—(AP)—Brooklyn will play at Ebbets Field tomorrow night—but it will be the Brooklyn College football team, not the celebrated Bums.
They just didn't have it—at least, not enough of it—in the final test that meant the difference between $4,000 or more world series dough and the second-place club's much smaller cut.
Maybe the first indication came when Murry Dickson tripped in the second inning to put the Cards ahead. Just then the P.A. system announced: "Important call for Mr. Reiser." And someone in the press box wisecracked: "They want him in the field." From the second inning until the ninth, Dickson didn't allow a hit and only one Dodger managed to drive the ball out of the infield. The ninth was different, but as Stretch Schultz missed that last strike, a harsh-voiced fan had the last word: "Oh, you bum." ... Yes, they really do say it.

Quote, Unquote
Eddie Dyer, the Cards' general manager, before the game: "I wouldn't have missed this season for anything. It presented more challenges than anything I ever have encountered. If it hadn't been for those Mexican boys and some injuries, we might have won as easily as the Red Sox. I hope I'm not sounding egotistical when I say I liked it better this way."

Timely Note
Twenty years to the day before the Cards won their place in the 1946 world series, they chalked up their first win in a world series game with old Pete Alexander on the mound.

Pisgah Pickings
Cornell vs. Army
The Big Red team lacks Army's steam.
Ohio State vs. Southern California and Georgia vs. Temple
I'd pick the Trojans.
And also the Georgians.
Mississippi State vs. Louisiana State
The team that has Shorty.
By one point—or 40.

Many Will Not be Able To See Games

Most Tickets Were Put in Mail Two Days Ago

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 4—(AP)—The Boston Red Sox may be 7 to 20 favorites to win the fourth series here in five years but that hasn't dulled the optimism or enthusiasm of St. Louis Cardinal fans.

Thousands of them lined up at Sportsman Park ticket office yesterday hours before the playoff even was decided.
And when the Cards finally knocked off Brooklyn to win the playoff, paper streamers and confetti showered from downtown buildings on jubilant crowds below.

Eager as the city was for the Cardinals to win, there will be a chance to see their team play. Most of the tickets were put in the mails two days ago to a record number of boxholders and season ticket subscribers who sensed a Cardinal victory.

Hardier fans—around 4,000 by midnight last night—circled the walls of Sportsman Park waiting with cashiers' checks of $37 in hand to gobble up what grand stand seats were left. Bleacher and pavilion seats will be sold only on days of games.

Students In Line
The line included several Washington University students attempting to earn a few extra dollars. The students were employed by St. Louis business firms to purchase seats. They received $10 if successful. If not they get $5 for their line-standing patience anyway.

Twenty-six soldiers arrived from nearby Scott Field, Ill., to stand in line all night also for their officers at $5 apiece. An army truck was sent over with a late snack and a supply of blankets and mattresses.

Hotel managers, who estimated they took $75,000 loss on the unexpected series delay in cancelled room reservations, again were up to their batons in request for rooms the first of the week. Clerks began moving cots into offices and show rooms in anticipation of the overflow.

Longhorns are Picked to Win Over Cowboys

Okla. A.&M. is Unbeaten in 21 College Games

By Harold Claassen

NEW YORK, Oct. 4—(AP)—The choice morsel on this weekend's football menu is scheduled for Saturday afternoon at Austin, Texas, and this corner, making the third stab of the young season, picks the Longhorns of Texas university to subdue Oklahoma A. & M.

The Cowboys are unbeaten in 21 college games, a string that includes two bowl games. However, that string won't be long enough to hobble the Longhorns, striving for recognition as the country's No. 1 outfit.

Bob Fenimore, Oklahoma A. & M.'s two-time All America, was bumped and bruised in last week's 21-21 deadlock with Arkansas but likely will be okay by the time the whistle blows.

Probable winners of the other games this weekend:
Army over Cornell: Cornell supposedly has good tackles, but ends, Army has great ends and only mediocre tackles. But the Cadets have Glen Davis and Arnold Tucker in the backfield with Doc Blanchard a possibility, if needed, Army.
Georgia vs. Temple

Georgia over Temple: Mr. Trippi and company come north for a Friday night game that shouldn't harm the Bulldogs' reputation as the South's second best team behind Alabama, Georgia.

Southern California over Ohio State: Neither club showed much last Saturday, the Buckeyes displaying the least in their tie with Missouri. What the Trojans will not do to the Ohiangs the California sunshine probably will.

Tennessee over Duke: Who salutes first when an ex-general meets an ex-colonel? The college, of course. But that's not why Col. Wallace Wade of Duke, will walk across the field to congratulate Brig. Gen. Robert Neyland of Tennessee.

Michigan over Iowa: Two un-leavened Big Nine powers tangle with Iowa's record of not having been scored upon going by the boards. But Michigan had best not spend too much time thinking to next week's shindig with Army.

Notre Dame
Notre Dame over Pittsburgh: The answer to this one, before you can spell Ziggy Czarowski, is Notre Dame.

Mississippi State over Louisiana State: On the theory that Shorty McWilliams has become an effective part of the Rebels grid machine by now, Mississippi State.

Navy over Columbia: The last time these two teams met, Columbia took a 61 to 0 pasting. It won't be that bad this time but the same team will win.

Illinois over Purdue: Here's where Buddy Young throws those running legs of his into high gear, Illinois.

Skipping over the rest in a hurry:

Friday
Denver over Brigham Young, Villanova over Marquette, Missouri over St. Louis, North Carolina over Miami, Fla., Maryland over Richmond, New Mexico over West Texas State, Wake Forest over Georgetown.

Saturday
Yale over Colgate, Dartmouth over Syracuse, Princeton over Brown, Harvard over Tufts, Holy Cross over Detroit, Minnesota over Indiana, Wisconsin over Northwestern, Michigan State over Boston College, Nebraska over Kansas State, Iowa State over Iowa Teachers.

Texas Christian over Arkansas, Rice over Southwestern, Oklahoma over Texas A. & M., Southern Methodist over Texas Tech., Alabama over South Carolina, Tulane over Florida, Mississippi over Vanderbilt, UCLA over Washington, Oregon over California, Stanford over San Francisco.

DEVIL'S LAUGHTER
By Alice M. Laverick
Copyright, 1946, NEA Service, Inc.

CHARLOTTE returned Colin's look and there was a faint smile on her lips. And then her eyes went to Mark's and she uttered a little cry.

And as she called Mark by name and held out her arms to him, Ellen began to weep loudly and to thank God over and over at the top of her lungs, so that I was forced to lead her hastily from the room for fear the noise would disturb Charlotte.

In a room across the hall, where I took her, Ellen told me the story of the fire. It had had a good start, she said, before she even realized that there was a fire. She had, of course, called the department at once, and Mark, who was spending the evening at Father Gene's, but Innisfail being such a distance from town, the harm was done before anyone could get there. The house was in flames. And Ellen could not get Charlotte to come down the stairs.

"We would have both perished, Celia," she said, "because I could not leave her alone to die. But when Father Gene and Mark got there, Colin was with them, praise be to God. Colin was up the stairs in a flash and carried Charlotte down almost before the other two were out of the car." Ellen howled again at this. But when I murmured something about the remarkable coincidence, she flashed out, "Call it coincidence, if you like. I know the hand of God was in it."

Colin himself tried to be flip-pant about it all.

"I was like the marines," he said, "arriving at the critical moment, the well-known nick of time." But his hand was trembling as he greeted me.

THIS was a little later, after I had persuaded Ellen to take a sedative and lie down for a while. I had gone back to my post and Father Gene and Colin had stopped by the desk. They had left Mark alone with Charlotte for a while.

My own hand was like ice, when Colin took it in his. I remember wondering just how much emotion the human heart could stand in one day. However, I managed to speak to Colin in a fairly steady voice, and he saw how shaken I really was, he could attribute it all to the miracle I had just witnessed.

Father Gene said, "I'm taking you and Ellen and Mark over to the parish house until we see what's to be done. Come along now, Colin. We had better let Cecelia get on with her duties."

Colin said quickly, "Not yet." And his dark eyes were on me. "I'd like to talk to Cecelia for a minute, Father. Do you mind?"

"To—Cecelia?" Father Gene stared at him and then at me. "Ah," he said. And again, "Ah." And, as he turned away, I saw the light of comprehension flash into the good man's eyes, and the twinkle of delight.

Colin said, "Isn't there somewhere I can talk to you for just five minutes, Cecelia? Away from this eternal hurrying procession of angels of mercy?"

I REMEMBER mentioning the diet kitchen as a possible retreat and we must have gone there. For my next memory is of leaning against the sink in the kitchen with Colin's dark face close above me. And of how my heart seemed at one moment to have stopped beating entirely and the next to have taken wings.

For it was there that Colin told me.

"It was the thought of you, Cecelia, that kept me steady," he was saying. "And the hope that one day I might be free to tell you. But I could not speak until—what happened today—did happen."

I put my hands behind me and held onto the edge of the sink.

"I've got a little house," he said, smiling. I thought fleetingly of Innisfail and of how it had seemed the right setting for him. I tried to imagine him in a little house. "I don't need a very big house, Cecelia," he said. "I'm not a very big man. I'm a working man." He said it humbly. Colin Fitzgerald—humble. Oh, no, not that, not that. "But I need you, Cecelia. I want you—very much."

I let go of the sink. I was crushed in his arms. He kissed me and continued to kiss me before two delighted internes and an astonished boy with crutches, who happened along.

Then Colin lifted his head and saw his audience.

"Well, don't stand there staring," he yelled, his dark eyes flashing. "Go along about your business!"

And I laughed with delight, as he took me in his arms. My black Irishman had not changed too much—not too much.

THE END

The Daily Washington Merry-go-'Round

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4—The state department recently leaked out a plan by which the United States would publish some of the secret documents relating to Russia's collaboration with Germany during the Nazi-Soviet pact period. The documents, of course, are packed with dynamite. They show Hitler and Stalin in active collaboration prior to 1941.

However, as soon as this information leaked out, Molotov sent word to British foreign minister Bevin that if the United States published these papers, Russia would publish certain documents of its own. The documents even list the sums which Hitler paid to some very important Englishmen.

Although London will deny it, the foreign office is now hoping that the state department keeps its mouth shut.

Phil Murray May Resign

A lot of people both in and out of labor are worried for fear Phil Murray will resign as head of the CIO. It has been Murray's wisdom that has kept the extremists in the CIO in check.

However, he isn't getting any younger, is in poor health, and wants to resign at the November CIO convention in Atlantic City. If he does, the CIO will split into various pieces. For that reason many friends are imploring him to remain and the present plan is to re-elect him unanimously.

Lampposts for Dictators

Lamppost hangings for dictators are becoming too fashionable in Latin America.

That was the conclusion of Argentine Dictator Peron who was returning to his palace from a late party, when he noticed the headlights of an automobile playing on a lamp post directly in front of his home. On the lamp post was a big sign saying: "Reserved for Colonel Peron."

As Peron's car drew to a halt, the automobile, whose headlights shone on the sign, dashed away. Peron took several shots at the sign himself, stormed into his palace and told aides he could lick any man in Buenos Aires.

In the fall of 1941, just before Pearl Harbor, a group of isolationist senators conducted a smear investigation of Hollywood movies which fell flat for two reasons—the Pearl Harbor attack and Wendell Willkie's brilliant defense of Hollywood.

Leader of the anti-Hollywood senators was Gerald Nye of North Dakota. His secretary—a clever young man who was always on hand to help Nye in his campaign to divide the American people was Gerald (Spike) Movius.

Hollywood will now be interested to know that Eric Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Association of America, is taking "Spike" Movius on his goodwill tour of Europe for American movies.

Refugees Blocked

Last Christmas President Truman courageously ordered the state department to provide visas for the entry of more than 40,000 displaced persons from Europe into the United States. However, nine months later, the gentlemen of the state department have only handed out 4,000 visas.

Result: President Truman, who has just got wind of this, may crack down on the state department and demand the firing of the obstructionists.

Truman Declines

One of the savviest members of congress, Edith Nourse Rogers, has a reputation for usually getting what she goes after. However, the charming and tenacious congresswoman from Massachusetts battled 000 when she braced President Truman the other day about calling a special session of congress to deal with the meat shortage.

She also fled out in her attempt to induce Truman to order agriculture Secretary Anderson to rescind price controls on meat.

"The meat shortage is extremely critical in my state," said Mrs.

Mr. Schrader introduced all of the county candidates, and also John T. Martin, Sedalia attorney who presented Mr. Kem. Mrs.
Kem who accompanied him to Sedalia was also introduced.

"True Democrats should join with Republicans and independent voters this fall in voting out of power the New Deal-Pendergast-IAC-Communist coalition now in control at Washington," James P.
Kem, Republican nominee, for United States senator, said in his talk here.

Mr. Kem, accompanied by Mrs.
Kem, visited Sedalia in order to meet and talk personally with as many people living in this county as possible.

In his visit all over the state,
Mr. Kem said, he is finding increasing anxiety over the future of the country as a result of the confused and chaotic conditions caused by the New Deal attempt to control all activities of the people.

Attacks Control Policies
"Farmers," he said, "are having difficulty in getting the machinery and implements they need, and are harassed by constantly changing federal policies on farm prices and subsidies, and by bureaucratic controls over their actions.

"Housewives, who patriotically accepted necessary restrictions during the war, are now alarmed and bewildered by the continuing scarcity of essential goods and the increasing difficulties in making ends meet.

"Wage earners and veterans both have suffered from the strike and industrial conflicts that have resulted from the failure of the New Deal administration and the New Deal Congress to develop a fair and impartial labor policy, and veterans have been further handicapped by the New Deal's muddling with the reconversion program, which slowed down the housing program and has made it nearly impossible for them to get civilian clothing and other needed civilian goods.

"All these problems are a direct result of the New Deal attempt to order our daily lives, to regulate our habits, to ration our necessities and to guide us in our every footstep.

Moral Issues Involved
"But the issues in this campaign are moral as well as economic. The New Deal Democrats in this state have allied themselves with the Communists, who are godless and would destroy the church. They have allied themselves with the dishonest Pendergast political machine, which is dependent upon vice, crime and fraud for its power. They have allied themselves with the PAC, a pressure group established for the sole purpose of getting from the new deal congress and administration special privileges for the selfish interests they serve.

"I find that the people of Missouri, regardless of whether they usually vote Democrat or Republican, are now generally convinced that the Republican party is the only party through which we can return to the traditional American system of freedom of opportunity.
This is the system which has resulted in giving us the world's finest standard of living and has made the United States the best place in the world in which to live.

"I urge, therefore, that the Democrats in this community unite with Republicans this fall to elect an honest, truly American Republican congress. The hope of recovery through any other course has been shown to be futile by the delays, the blunders, the inconsistencies, and the turmoil of the New Deal."

Meetings For Women
Announcement was made by Chairman Schrader of the meeting of the Republican Women's club which will be held, Tuesday, October 22nd, at which the president of the Missouri Federation of Republican Women's club, Mrs.
Carl Crome of Clinton, will speak.
Announcement was also made of the meeting in the circuit court room on October 31st, which will be addressed by Congressman Marion T. Bennett, of the sixth district.

Mr. Kem in his campaign tour the past week covered twenty-six counties and with addresses to be given today will have covered twenty-one this week.
After spending the night here he will leave for Tipton, Columbia and Fayette ending the week's speaking tour with an address at Boonville tonight.

Talk On Trend In Crime Given

R. B. Ayres With FBI Is Speaker
To B. and P.W.C.

Rowen B. Ayres, with the Federal Bureau of Investigation, was guest speaker at the annual Public Relations dinner of the Sedalia Business and Professional Women's club, at the Bothwell hotel, Thursday night. His subject was "Modern Trend in Crime" and he gave a resume of the work of his department, explaining how various types of crime were under the juisdiction of other departments, such as postoffice, treasury, OPA, and others. The work of the FBI, he explained, is under the attorney general's department.

Youths Lead In Crime
He stated records, finger prints in Washington, indicate there are 6,000,000 persons in the United States, with criminal records, persons who have committed felonies.
Another significant fact, he mentioned, is that the 17 year old youths lead all ages in the number of crimes. This, he explained, may be due to the fact that about three years ago there was a wave of juvenile delinquency, and today those boys are in the 17 year old class. The number of girls arrested, under 18 years of age, is also on the increase.

The present crime wave, Mr.
Ayres explained, is not due to the return of men from service into civilian life. The army and navy, he said, do not make criminals.
Naturally there will be some criminals among the military men, but the majority of criminals are men who never were in service and had no intention of getting there, men who were in reformatories or prisons during the war. He referred to the number of crime repeaters, although the fact a man has committed a crime does not mean he is always a repeater.

Offenses of Many Types
He spoke of the many types of crimes, cited instances of burglaries, robberies or other offenses, some of which were known to the guests, and told how the FBI continued on the case until it was solved and the offender punished. He closed his remark with a warning against bad check writers, stating there are many floating over the country today who may write them for small amounts, but if they write enough of them take in plenty of money for themselves until apprehended.

Mr. Ayres was introduced by Mrs. N. U. Renshaw, chairman of the public relations committee.
The talk was preceded by songs by Neal Powers, who, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. W. L.
Monegan, sang "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life," a Negro Spiritual,
"Were You There When They Crucified My Lord," and as an encore "Mother Machree."

Mrs. Ollie McMullin club president, presided over the business session. She introduced three new members, Miss Patsy Rissler, Mrs.

Nina Carpenter and Mrs. O. L.
Scott. She also called attention to the district meeting of the club to be held in Columbia October 13.

Miss Grace Carter asked the invocation and club singing was led by Mrs. William Ward.

other civic clubs attending were
